Profile

I'm a full stack developer based in Stockholm, Sweden with 4+ years of experience building everything from healthcare tools to solar tech platforms and educational apps.

I like figuring things out—whether it's untangling tricky code or coming up with a smarter way to do things.

I work well under pressure, stay calm when things get messy, and pick up new tools fast. Most of all, I care about building things that actually work and make life easier for the people using them.
